"MY FLAG, MY COLORS."

A Bold Anarchist Nearly Lynched by an Excited Crowd.

CHICAGO, Ill., May 1.—One of the exciting incidents of yesterday was witnessed by about 500 persons who had assembled in front of the headquarters of Fire Engine Co., No. 17, at 20 West Lake street. Capt. E. Anderson and a dozen members of the company were at work decorating the front of the building. Suddenly a man thrust his head from a window of the fourth-story of the building, east of the engine house, and after noting the work of decoration, announced himself as an Anarchist. He reviled the stars and stripes and the decorators in the most insulting manner. Little attention was paid to the man, however, until he floated the red flag of anarchy from the window, announcing it as "my flag—my colors." Then the crowd became excited and angry and loud calls were heard.

"Fast down that rag or you will be sorry you ever floated it," was cried to him from a hundred throats. Seeing that the crowd was in a bad humor and that several men had offered to climb up the fire escape in the front of the building and tear the rag down, the man secured an axe and, taking a position in the window, declared that he would kill any man who touched his "flag." The crowd was almost frenzied and constantly grew larger. Half a dozen men exhibited revolvers and offered to drive the wretch from his position in the window long enough to tear the Anarchist colors down. While the debate was in progress as to the best thing to be done, Capt. Dolan appeared on the roof of the building with a rope in his hand to the end of which was attached an iron hook. He lowered the hook until it came near the staff of the red flag and then with a sudden jerk upward dislodged the unsightly banner. It fell to the sidewalk and a minute later had been torn into a hundred fragments. A moment later the man emerged from the stairway and came out upon the sidewalk. He was seized by a dozen men, and someone cried out, "Get a rope; let's hang the Anarchist dog." Several men rushed into the engine-house and returned with a rope. In the meantime the man had been knocked down or tripped up half a dozen times, and blood was trickling from a wound under his left eye. About the time the men returned with the rope a police officer, who had been sent from the Douglas street station to see what the trouble was, appeared on the scene and advised the crowd to disperse. The man whose name is M. W. Doty was finally released and allowed to go up stairs.

AFTER THIRTY YEARS.

Mr. C. Moller to Meet His Sister—A Remarkable Family.

Mr. C. Moller, Secretary of the Mount City Distilling Co., will leave shortly for New York to meet his sister, who will arrive from Denmark on May 18. Mr. Moller has not seen his sister for thirty years. She was then a little girl. He received a letter from her some time ago stating that she would sail on the mark, on the trip which proved to be the last of her life. He was then in the city, so that he would be able to leave business and go to New York and meet her. After taking her through the principal streets of the East Mr. Moller will return with sister to this city and will take a permanent residence with him. Mr. Moller's life is a very unusual history. His father was a Danish sailor, who was on the coast of St. Thomas, a sister at Santa Cruz and a brother on the coast of Trinidad. His sister whom he will meet on May 18 is for time in thirty years the only member of the family surviving.

A Sudden Death.

Thur. S. Walker, a stranger in this city, attached by violent hemorrhages at the House, 616 Market street, last night and before medical attendance could be procured. About 10:30 o'clock Walker appeared at a hotel, registered and was shown to his room. At this time he appeared in good health. Shortly before 11 o'clock the clerk, Link, heard a noise in the hall and on investigation found Walker with the throat cut from his mouth. The alarm was at once given but the stranger was dead in a few minutes. The deceased appears to have been 40 years of age and a laborer by occupation. The body is at the morgue.

Proved the Favorite.

YORK, May 1.—Contrary to rumor that "rust and Ball Commemorative" would displace most popular brands of champagne, a grand banquet at their grand old banquet, the committee showed its wisdom by selecting the famous vintage of 1898. H. Mumm & Co. a 1898 Extra Dry champagne brand to be served at both events. At the grand reception given at a President at the magnificent rooms of Lawyers' Club this celebrated vintage of 1898 Extra Dry champagne also served and proved the favorite wine.

Martha Washington in the Police Court.

The Second District Police Court had but thirteen cases this morning, which was a small docket for that institution considering a fact that yesterday was a general holiday. The first case was before Judge Anderson on charges of disturbing the peace and resisting arrest. He was fined $10 on each charge. A colored woman giving the illustrious name of Martha Washington was before the court on a charge of disturbing the peace by some irregular mode of celebrating the anniversary of her husband's death. She was fined $10 on each charge. Her case was continued until May 7.

THE ELEVATOR COMBINE.

Arrangements Being Performed—A Meeting to Be Held To-day.

The gentlemen who are endeavoring to effect the union of the grain elevators held a meeting on Monday, and another will be held late this afternoon or to-morrow. It has not yet been called. The object of these meetings is to settle the basis on which each will enter the agreement, and it is by no means an easy task to satisfy them all. It is generally believed by all the elevator men that the combination would be a good thing for them, and for the commission men and for the market, and the only thing that needs adjustment is the value of each of the properties. Naturally every one of them wishes to be rated as high as possible, and at the first conference no progress towards understanding of the positions they occupied toward each other, and in order to obtain a point from which they could start, Mr. Webb Samuel was appointed a committee of one place value upon each of the properties. He is said to have estimated the value of the properties at $100,000,000.

THE CLOSING FEATURES OF THE CENTENNIAL CELEBRATION YESTERDAY.

Demonstration at Music Hall—Patriotic Songs and Speeches—Orations by George H. W. Bland and others—The Centennial Parade—Accidents Yesterday.

At the Music Hall, the closing features of the centennial celebration were held yesterday. The hall was quite filled with the best people of the city, who listened for two hours to patriotic songs, orations and addresses. The hall was quite filled with the best people of the city, who listened for two hours to patriotic songs, orations and addresses. The interior decoration was confined to the stage, which was decorated with a large statue of Washington as a background for the singers, and some bunting about the boxes and along the front of the stage.

The ladies of the Choral Society, dressed in white and wearing colored ribbons, relieved the stage of barrenness. The society sang with spirit "America," "The Star Spangled Banner" and other patriotic airs, in which the audience joined in joining.

Invoked the divine blessing, and was followed by Edward L. McDowell, who read Washington's inaugural address. History says the first President read his address haltingly and with evident embarrassment. He was scarcely heard in the small Senate chamber of the old Federal Hall. But every one in Music Hall heard Mr. McDowell's splendid reading of the same lines, and understood what he said as long ago.

Samuel M. Breckinridge was introduced by George W. Allen, who presided. Mr. Breckinridge's address was longer than was anticipated, but very instructive. His eulogy of Washington was enthusiastic, but he was not a partisan in his eulogy to the Constitution. "The fame of this great paper," he said, "can never be separated from the glories of the man without a rival who presided over the convention which framed it, and who was the first President of the nation it formed."

There will be a banquet for the parade at the Missouri Bicycle Club house Saturday night. The banquet will be given by the club, and will be a most enjoyable affair.

John Largent, 5 years of age, was playing in the back yard of his residence, at Westminister place and Vandeventer avenue, yesterday morning, with a lighted torch. His father, 2 years of age, passed near him and the child and her clothing caught fire. Before she could reach her she was burned from head to foot. Her injuries are thought to be dangerous.

William Berger of Fayetteville, came over to see the parade yesterday and grew very tired walking around. He sat on the rail of the Centennial bridge to watch the parade, and fell asleep. He was carried to the hospital, and died there.

Richard Helms, a married man, was riding a horse in the parade yesterday. The horse was running very fast, and Helms was thrown from the horse. He was injured, and is now in the hospital.

James O'Keefe, of 605 Esplanade street, was standing in front of 608 Clark avenue looking at the parade yesterday when a shutter fell from the third floor of the building and struck him on the head. He was injured, and is now in the hospital.

A horse carriage going to the O'Neil fair yesterday ran into a buggy at Fourth street and Washington avenue, upsetting it and throwing the occupants. The buggy was badly broken up, but none of the occupants were hurt.

The races at the Fair Grounds next Saturday will be five, six and seven furlongs. The races will be very interesting, and will attract a large crowd.

The speaker who presided Mr. Wendling had been preceded, but when he concluded his remarks, the audience was so enthusiastic that he was obliged to stop.

WASHINGTON PARADE.

A BRITON'S SURPRISE AT ITS CHARACTER AND ORDER.

Great Difference Between Large Gatherings in This Country and Abroad—Orderliness of American Crowds as Compared With British—Absence of Drunkenness and Thievery—High Praise From Abroad.

"I have never seen such a large and well-ordered crowd of people. The parade was very impressive, and the orderliness of the American crowds was a revelation to me. We have not a few processions at home, but when one is to take place a large number of special police are sworn in, the streets are closed, and a large reserve force is held in readiness. The bicycle parade last night was a success in every way, and many who saw it were surprised at the number of combinations to be made out of bicycle wheels and tri-cycles. There were 200 wheels in line, and the parade was very impressive.

FIXED BY THE CLIQUE.

A SCHEME TO DECAPITATE RECORDER OF VOTERS WILLIAMS.

At a Night Session of the State Senate the Governor is Empowered to Remove Him for Cause—The Governor's Friends in the Senate After the Recorder—Tinkering With the Law.

LAST Monday night at late hour seventeen members of the State Senate met in a session on the statute revision bill. At that session the clique of Senators whose action usually follows the lines laid out by the Governor's friends in the Senate adopted the committee amendment to the Recorder of Voters for the city of St. Louis. This amendment authorizes the Governor to remove the Recorder of Voters for the city of St. Louis "for cause."

The only representative from this city who was present at the meeting, and through his opposition the scheme was laid bare. The purpose of the amendment is to empower the Governor to remove the Recorder of Voters for the city of St. Louis "for cause."

The Recorder of Voters for the city of St. Louis is a man of high standing in the community, and his removal would be a great loss to the city. The scheme to remove him is a clear attempt to fix the election by the clique.

The Centennial Celebration—School Exercises—Mr. Coppinger's Funeral.

Yesterday was pretty generally observed here as Centennial day. Quite a number of the business houses were beautifully decorated with national colors. The banks, post-offices, manufacturing, public schools and business houses were closed, and the city has the appearance of a general holiday. At nine o'clock the church bells rang, as they did on the morning of Washington's inauguration, and that part of our citizens who observed the day usually assembled in the different places of worship. At the Centennial Church the congregations of the Episcopal, Presbyterian, Methodist, Lutheran, Baptist and Catholic churches united in a service of prayer and song. The services were very impressive, and the people were very much interested.
